The Policy Statement for English

Approved by

Introduction

English is a core subject in the National Curriculum. All learning takes place through the use of language and therefore this gives English a special place within the National Curriculum.

It is during a child's primary education that the foundations of all aspects of English are laid. This makes English the most important area of the curriculum of any primary school.

The Policy Statement for English is divided into five sections:

Speaking and Listening

Reading

Writing

Spelling

Handwriting

Each section is a Policy Statement in its own right but it is our intention that the five sections together form the total policy for the teaching of English at Greens Norton Primary School.
